Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Here is a symposium of editorial comment from California newspapers by J. F. McLaughlin, the Nugget's United States Staff Correspondent.

Now that the elections are over, cougress and the rest of the nation can concentrate on bringing a speedy and victorious end to the war, said California editors.

And the Hitler-Hirohito gang are badly mistaken if they believe the ballot results tended toward disunity, for the exact opposite was stressed throughout the campaigns, the editors added.

"The effect of the recent election," said the Madera Daily Tribune, "will be to encourage those members of congress who have been tugging at the ropes of a congressional revolt. Nothing could have been done to turn America to an all-out war efrort more quickly than the results of the election. Up to the present time the greatest effort seems to have been expended by the bureaucratic government control for its own expansion rather than for winning the war."

Noting the nation has cleared the decks for action, the Eureka Humbolt Standard continues:

"With the election days over the nation's two party system has shown itself to be in sound working order, a heartening sign to all believers in the American system of government. But the time has come now for renewed teamwork concentrating on the biggest, most fateful job this nation's citigens have ever faced, the crushing of powerful enemies in Europe and Asia. Partisan feuding, political or otherwise, has no place in a war for survival."

"The people," agrees the Stockton Record, "want the pledge to adjourn politics in Washington faithfully carried out. They demand that no special favors be given to any group—business, labor or agriculture. They demand sacrifices equally distributed among all. The new blood being sent to congress is a voter mandate to get things done. It is sent as a warning for the president and those in authority to take the people more into their confidence and treat them as adults."

As to the E mfwyp fwyp fwyp As to the Axis taking great joy at the defeat of Democratic candidates in the belief it was a slap at Roosevelt, the Anaheim Bulletin declares "they are wrong. It was simply the way a democracy demonstrates its dissatisfaction with certain public officials. Our enemies are deluding themselves if they think they are going to profit by the change made by the U. S. voters. Those elected to office are just as intensely determined to prosecute the war to victory as those they replace."

"Hitler and Hirohito," adds the San Jose News "should get no comfort from this election. They should not believe that because Americans, in some races, swung from democratic office holders to republicans, this meant discrediting of President Roosevelt's policies regarding the war. It meant that we are more than ever united—that we are behind the war to such an extent that we demand a far more vigorous prosecution of it than we have yet had."

"Sometimes," comments the Alameda Times-Star, "the losing party is very downhearted, and the winning party too jubilant over victory. This year many democrats join republicans in pointing with pride to the fact that Americans can safely make changes as they like, and that the basic aims of both parties are the same. The main question is of method in winning the war. What all Americans want, and long may it wave, is the continued opportunity to 'kick the rascals out' whenever they feel like it. That's democracy'.'

War, Or No War, Nevada City Will Celebrate Christmas

War or no war, Nevada City will celebrate Christmas, not as usual, but unusually well. H. F. (Si) Sofge, and his willing aids in the Chamber of Commerce will see to it.

Si says the city council also will be asked to get in and pitch this time, that is, to the extent of helping out with trucks and man-power in bringing in Christmas greenery from the hills for street decoration.

Owing to the dim-out regulations there will be no overhead display of colored Christmas lights this year, but every post along business streets will sprout green branches to herald the great festal day.

Because gas rationing, if there are no further delays among Washington's Colonel Blimps, will go into effect on December 1, Secretary Sofge is anxious to collect the forest greens this week.

Guerdon Ellis, Tahoe Forest Supervisor, will lead the way in the excusion to the higher altitudes and show the gatherers of Christmas branches just where to chop in the national forests. The Forest Service is cooperating 100 per cent.

CORONER WAITS AUTOPSY REPORT ON TRAGIC DEATH

While Coroner A. M. Holmes must wait for a report of the autopsy performed on the body of the late Mrs. Julia DeWitt, found dead Thursday aternoon in her apartment at 206 Nevada street, before announcing his conclusions, there seems little doubt that death resulted from natural causes.

The body was discovered by Mrs. Charles Giani, a sister, when she called at one o'clock Thursday afternoon to tell Mrs. DeWitt that a telegraph money order from James DeWitt, her husband at Pearl Harbor was waiting or her at the telegraph office.

The little 3 year old daughter of Mrs. DeWitt was instructed how to open the locked door from the inside. The child was attired in night clothes and apparently had been eating some cold mush from a dish on the floor near her mother's body, completely oblivious to the tragedy.

An examination of the premises by Deputy Sheriffs Bill Woods and Willard O'Hara indicated the woman had abundant funds at home and a bank account. No evidence of violence or robbery was found.

Whether an inquest will be held or not, depends, Coroner Holmes states, upon the report received from the autopsy surgeons, after an analysis of certain body tissues has been received from state laboratories, to which they were sent. There is a possibility of poisoning, the coroner states. Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen is satisfied there was no rebbery or violence involved in the woman's death.

Her three year old daughter, Joan is now in the care of Mrs. Chas. Giani, sister of Mrs. DeWitt. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

The people, concludes the Monterey Peninsula Herald, are "learning that no political party has any sole and exclusive franchise on the aplication of intelligence and integrity to national, state or local problems; that neither the democrats nor the republicans are all men and women of genius, nor are the members of either group all knaves and fools. Individuals on both sides of the partisan fence have contributions to make, and Americans in the mass are more concerned now with results than with false distinctions between those who can produce these results."

NAVAL TRAINING STUDENT WRITES OF LIFE IN TUCSON

Harley M. Leete, Jr., now attending a naval training school at the University of Arizona at Tucson writes:

"The Tucson campus is most attractive. The weather is bright blue and there is something indescribably balmy about the air.

"The food is good. Example, dinner: All generous helpings—Milk, bread, squash, good veal cut up in gravy, big greens, salad, cooked cherries.

"The daily program starts at 5:45 and is plenty business. The atmosphere here is friendly, cordial and businesslike. Do not send me anything except letters. If I received something the size of a golf ball I would have to throw something else away. We are crowded, 1000 men in a college gymnasium. The indoctrination course is for two months, ending January 16. Do not believe I will get a Christmas furlough."

SIERRA SCHOOLS COLLECT HUGE PILE OF SCRAP

The schools of Sierra County, elementary and high, have to date, collected the following scrap. The greater part was gathered during the National School Salvage Campaign week of October 5-10.

Iron and steel 112,000 pounds.
Copper, 330 pounds.
Aluminum, 150 pounds.
Lead, 100 pounds.
Rags, 300 pounds.
Rubber, 1385 pounds.

The county salvage chairman assisted in gathering and removal. Supervisor A. E. Pezzola removed the scrap for the Sierra City, Downieville and Goodyear schools.

Proceeds from the sale of the scrap will be used in donations to the USO and the Red Cross, and in the purchase of War Savings Stamps and School equipment.

COFFEE FROZEN FOR ONE WEEK: RATIONING NOV. 29

From last Saturday midnight and through midnight, November 28, seven days, no sales of roasted coffee can be made to any consumer. Beginning next Sunday, November 29 and through Sunday, January 3, 1943, an eligible customer can purchase one pound of coffee upon surrender of Stamp 27, from war ration book, No. 1. The next valid coffee stamp will be No. 28. Anyone 15 years or older is eligible to buy coffee, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. Institutional users of coffee must register at their local boards for the allowance of coffee, just as was done for sugar.

Wholesalers and retailers will, at at a future date obtain from their local boards, OPA form R-1201, which will show their allowable inventory and their present inventory. They are permitted to issue their own purchase warrants. Allowable inventory is one pound of cofee for each $10 of gross sales of meats, groceries and vegetables sold during September, 1942.

RAIN AT CAMPTONVILLE

The Camptonville Rangers Station registered 10.65 inches for the recent storm beginning Nov. 14. Previous to that the gauge registered five inches for the season, making a total of 15.65 to date.

HOUSING AGENCY STUDIES NEVADA COUNTY REGION

In response to an inquiry from H. F. Sofge, secretary of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce, Donald B. Kirby, Homes Use Director of the San Francisco office of the National Housing Agency writes:

"Thank you for your letter which was received November 10. I have already referred it to our programming department, which is currently at work on a study of your region."

CALIFORNIA NOW HAS SURPLUS OF CASH, $60,075,972

State Controller Harry B. Riley announced today that California's general fund cash excess had reached a record breaking total of $60,075,972 on October 31.

The excess, largest in the state's history, topped by $13,848,860 the previous record set a month earlier. The state is better off by $84,107,305 than it was on October 31 last year when a deficiency of $24,031,333 existed.

Controller Riley revealed that revenue in the four month period ended October 31, exceeded expenditures by $45,860,064. Revenue totaled $87,389,787 and expenditures amounted to $41,529,723.

All major sources of revenue, with three exceptions, yields greater returns in the four months period this year than last. Aside from the state guard, apportionments to high schools and miscellaneous fixed charges all major items of expenditure were less this year than last.

VEHICLE DEPT. NOT TO FIX '43 CAR VALUE NOW

When motor vehicle owners of Nevada City receive their registration cards (white slips) from the Department of Motor Vehicles for 1943 the amount of the motor vehicle license fee due for the following year will not be shown on the card as in former years.

Due to the conditions incidental to the gasoline and tire rationing programs, the department finds it impossible to estimate the probable market value of motor vehicles for a period so far in advance.

Acting Registrar of Motor Vehicles, Thomas V. Maloney, announces the market value of the cars, upon which fee is gag mfwp fwyp fwyp which fe is based, will be estimated, a later date, probably some time next fall when more is known concerning the availability of tire replacements. Vehicle owners will then be notified of the amounts they will be required to pay either through publicity channels or by postcard.

Maloney said the market value of any individual car next year probably would depend upon the condition of its tires and the chances for securing new tires or replacements.

Three Tons of Tires Piled in Hills Flat

Three tons of tires, extras which motorists must turn in before receiving gas ration books, are piled across the street from the State Highway patrol office in Hills Flat. The pile is growing daily. Few good tires are among them. Most of them are old smoothies.

Pheasant Hunters Find Short Food Rations

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23.—Unquestionably the opening of the present pheasant season was the most successful one yet to be experienced in this state. There are still plenty of birds to be had, but the hunter will have to work harder to get them, as they become very wary after the first day's shooting. The season closes November 24th. Perhaps the greatest concentration of hunters on opening day was in Glenn and Colusa counties. Many of the towns in these areas were completely sold out of food—both restaurants and grocery stores. Hunters planning trips to these counties might do well to include a loaf or bread and a can of beans with their regular equipment—just in case.

S. WILLIAMSON HEADS SELECTEES WHO LEFT TODAY

Stenger Williamson, local garage man, was in charge of a group of 23 selective service men who left this morning the National Hotel at 6:30 for Monterey where they will be assigned for duty in various outfits of the armed forces. They had passed the medical examinations and had been sworn into service.

Another group left the courthouse at about the same time for medical examinations. The group leaving for Monterey this morning is the last which will receive two weeks furlough before reporting for actual duty. Those of the group who left today for medical examination, who pass, will be given a week's furlough in which to settle their affairs and visit with relatives before leaving for final induction into the military service.

Clyde L. Owen J,oseph Tamietti, Ralph R. Bretthauer, Ewarld H. Blocke, Bruce G. Leary, William O. Pace. William G. Phillips, William Handy, James W. Davis, James F. Dale, Howard J. Reader, John Rau, Jr., Samuel F. Pena, Leroy B. Hoskin, George S. (Mails) White, Charlie R. Nicholson, Raymond E. Hodge, George M. Willard, Ralph B. Snider, John R. Collier, Edwin F. Parthurst, Robert L. Michell and Marcus J. McBeen, Sr.

The Mine Workers Protective League of Grass Valley bade the men goodbye on behalf of the people of the county.

Diphtheria Tests for School Children

Mrs. Isabel Hefelfinger, Nevada City schools health nurse urges that children from the rural districts be brought to the Nevada City Elementary School for the Schick test which determines whether or not previous innoculation against diphtheria has been successful.

It is impossible to take the doctors to the patients but the children should be given the tests, which began at 9:30 this morning. A charge of ten cents is made for the tests, but this does not cover the cost, but the nominal charge is being made to pay for the materials used. Persons who can not afford this small sum will be given the tests without charge.

Funeral Service for Late Mrs. DeWitt

Funeral services for the late Mrs. Julia DeWitt, who passed away at her home on Nevada street last Wednesday night were held yesterday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock from the Holmes Funeral Home. Rev. Fr. O'Reilly of St. Canice Catholic church conducted the religious services.

Interment was in Pine Grove Cemetery.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE WEDNESDAY EVENING

A union Thanksgiving service will be held on Wednesday evening at 7:30 p. m. in Trinity Episcopal Church for all interested residents of Nevada City.

Rev. Cedric Porter of the host congregation is in charge of the service. Rev. David Ralston of the Methodist church will be the preacher. Mrs. Carl Libbey, director of Trinity choir, has planned a splendid selection of music for this special service.

A cordial invitation is extended to all to attend this service.

Bank of America to Cut Bonus Melon

More than 9000 staff members of the Bank of America in all parts of California will again share in a bonus to aggregate approximately $600,000.

The bonus was voted recently by the bank's board of directors upon recommendation of President L. M. Giannini, who reported that staff teamwork throughout the year had made it possible for the bank to meet the abnormal problems created by war conditions and the enlistment in the armed forces of 2285 experienced employees.

This payment will bring the total bonus to the staff during the year to almost $1,250,000 or approximately 90 per cent of a month's salary for the average employee.

Caught in the Riffles

No doubt the local people have heard of the Nevada City man who climbed out on a limb and sawed it off, but Mrs. Bill Hatch of Clark street has a good one to tell on herself—

She has been doing considerable remodeling and renovating in her home lately. Saturday she removed everything from her bedroom that she thought she needed and painted the floor very carefully. When she got ready to go down town she found she had left her coat and shoes in the closet! Down town she came with a sweater and white shoes, while nearly everyone else was wearing overcoats.

Old Jim Brawley of Rock Springs, Wyoming, is visiting his son, Hugh Brawley, Mrs. Brawley and two sons in this city. Old Jim proudly wears a forty year service button of the Union Pacific Coal Co. He is a hoist engineer. He tells a story of a freshet in Rock Springs, which washed out the body of a popular chief of police who died in the fall, was buried, and ressurected by flood in the spring to land squarely in the middle of town again.

"There's not a single outside toilet in Rock Springs," says Old Jim Brawley, "and it's a city of 10,000."

The story of the defunct police chief, almost matches that one of the deceased Nevada City man whose coffin slipped out the back end of a heare on a steep hill, came apart, much to the undertaker's embarrassment.

FURLOUGHS FOR MINERS SOUGHT

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 23. — The State Bureau of War Minerals Production received assurance today that steps will be taken to obtain furlougs for California miners now in the armed forces, so they can resume work in mines producing strategic war minerals.

The promise of action came from William K. Hopkins, regional director of the War Manpower Commission in San Francisco, in reply to a complaint by the State Mining Board yesterday that other western mining states have been so favored.

Hopkins said a liaison officer would be sent to Sacramento next week to confer with Bruce McDonell chief of the War Production Bureau.

The mining board also called on the Office of Defense Transportation to include provisions for war minerals exploration and development work in the gasoline rationing program.

PTA DEHYDRATES 3900 POUNDS OF FRUIT

Under the auspices of the Nevada City PTA, a group of women have processed 3,000 pounds of fresh fruit and vegetables which will be used in the local school the coming winter. The Native Sons Hall was donated or the dehydration work and a splendid response has been shown by the women. This work started September 25 with four small home made dehydrators.

Last week 530 pounds of apples from the Everet Fox orchard, Loma Rica, were dried. These were picked by Lloyd Geist, Louis Popovich, H. A. Sturtevant, George Strach and four eighth grade boys.

Next week the group will work on apples donated by F. Mounday from the Memorial Hospital orchard.

Students Collect 65 Tons of Scrap

The Nevada City High and Elementary School students have collected sixty five tons of scrap metal in the current drive.

The scrap is piled in the high school yard awaiting transport to steel mills.

Local high school and elementary students conducted a house to house canvass for old metal.

CHALLENGE TO DE WITT NEEDS SWIFT APPEAL

The ruling of United States Judge Fee in Portland that Gen. DeWitt, commander of the Western Defense Area, is without authority over citizens in the absence of martial law is one that should be appealed swiftly to the United States Supreme Court.

It would be a great pity if the reasonable and moderate regulations of this sensible and efficient commander were to be set aside on technical grounds. The necessities of the Japanese situation in the Western States have been admirably served by Gen. DeWitt; but if Judge Fee is right, this region may have to go under martial law, since we need these regulations.

However, Judge Fee appears to have gone somewhat afield from what was before him and to have transgressed the beneficial rule that courts do not rule on more than is necessary to decide the main point at issue. A finding that Gen. DeWitt does have power over aliens and that the Japanese who appealed to Judge McFee from the alien curfew order had forfeited his citizenship would have sufficed to dispose of the matter, and the rest of what Judge Fee says looks like what lawyers call "obiter dicta." Obiter dicta, while it may be persuasive, is not considered as establishing a positive precedent.

Whether in his remarks on these possibly extraneous issues Judge Fee has consideraly broadened the rule in the Milligan case seems to be a question. The Milligan decision referred to trial before military commissions, and there have been no trials before military commissioners nor any attempted in the Western Defense Command. There seems, therefore, good ground for taking this case up to the highest court and, hope that there Gen. DeWitt's powers, as he has been exercising them, will be affirmed, without any necessity for overruling the Milligan case.

As a matter of strict law, Judge Fee may or may not be correct. The chances seem to be that he is not. There is always a sort of legal "no-man's land" when war forces the necessary intrusion of military rule into and alongside civil affairs and ofttimes the particular questions have to be decided in the light of military exigencies. The effect of Judge Fee's ruling, if it is sustained, could be very unfortunate.—Los Angeles Times.

TRAFFIC DEATH TOLL DROPS OFF FIFTY PERCENT

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 23.—(UP)—A reduction of nearly 50 per cent in California's October traffic death toll as compared with that of October, 1941, was attributed today by Victor H. Killick, head of the Motor Vehicle Department's Bureau of Statistics to statewide enforcement of the 35 mile per hour speed limit.

A total of 173 traffic deaths occurred in the state last month as compared to 367 persons in October, 1941.

"If there ever has been a question as to the effect of speed on traffic deaths," said Killick, "it is now conclusively apparent that speed plays a very prominent part in the state's traffic death total."

Since January, 1929, Killick's records showed 38,388 persons died as a result of California traffic accidents.

Unless Really Necessary

PLEASE DON'T TRAVEL

WAR SERVICE COMES FIRST!

Don't travel unless you must . . . War service must come first . . . Ask yourself, before you travel: Is this trip necessary?

These, briefly, are admonitions and warnings of our Government, for all transportation is now vitally needed to carry our Armed Forces, workers in war plants and other essential travelers.

In the past, Americans took extra trips over the Holidays, causing an above-normal volume of travel.

But these are not normal times. Today transportation is faced with a serious shortage of equipment. Trained personnel has been depleted by the need for fighting men. Lower operating speed has become necessary in order to save rubber. Now gasoline rationing will make it necessary for many additional essential travelers to depend on already overloaded buses.

That is why we appeal to you to postpone any pleasure trip you have planned which requires the use of public transportation. But another important reason is that thousands of our boys in the Armed Forces want to be home for the Holidays. Every one of them who can get leave deserves this privilege . . . we are not asking them not to travel. You, by giving up your trips, can add to their enjoyment and comfort. We are sure that every American will be eager and proud to make this sacrifice.

So please don't travel unless absolutely necessary—especially over the Holidays and week-ends.

CALIF. CONDOR ABUNDANT IN PLIOCENE ERA

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 23. — Evidence exists that the California condor, that giant bird with a nine-foot wingspread, descends like many other birds from great antiquity. In the case of the condor, fossil remains date to the Pleistocene time, which goes back a million years, and even before that into the Pliocene.

Dr. Loye Holmes Miller, professor of biology on the Los Angeles camus of the University of California, cites the discovery of traces of cathartine vultures that lived in the Kern River basin in the Pliocene period.

He is of the opinion that the California condor is a senile species far past its prime and probably headed for extinction. "It was widely distributed and numerically abundant in Pleistocene time, in Florida, Mexico, New Mexico, Texas, Nevada, California, but now is restricted to one or two localities and a numerable roster of individuals within the two Californias."

Like other vultures, the condor will take carrion as food, but prefers live game, and, in extremity, it is said, will attack sheep and even deer. When gorged with food it is difficult for him to take off without a runway or an elevation from which to launch, says Dr. Miller. There are reports of his having been captured by cowboys when in this condition. But the California condor is rigidly protected by law.

FIRE POWER OF U. S. PLANES TOO MUCH FOR FOES

American aircraft manufacturers are building into fighting planes for the Army, Navy and other United Nations the most devastating guns and cannon punch in the history of aerial warfare, a survey by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce of America revealed today.

New triumphs in American design and engineering technique are sending our bombers and fighters into battle armed to the teeth to bring widespread destruction to the enemy. The manufacturers have designed the planes around this fire power.

Heavier and more lethal cannon and machine guns have been mounted in the noses, tails, sides, tops and bellies of the American warplanes without sacrificing speed, range or climbing ability, the chamber finds. The "blind spots" which harassed Yankee gunners and plane crews during the early months of the war have now been completely eliminated.

American fighting planes are now liberally equipped with 37 mm. and 20 mm. cannon and .50 cal, machine guns, while many enemy types depend on .30 cal. machine guns. The Japanese Zero fighter, for instance, is usually armed with two 20 mm. low velocity cannon and two 7.7 mm. guns. This permits American gunners to open fire on the Zero from a greater distance with guns of heavier calibre and muzzle velocity. Under these circumstances, the Zero is of little or no use against the American planes.

Indicative of the value of stepped-up firepower is the case of American gunners newly arrived at the front who recently shot down 22 enemy planes and lost but two of their own in the renewed Allied offensive in the Egyptian desert.

Large Classes at U. C. Study Japanese Language

BERKELEY, Nov. 23. — While classes in the languages of Russia, China, Brazil and other South American countries, are carrying a large enrollment in University Extension, the class department reports the largest group enrolled for any current extension course to be in first-year Japanese. This course is particularly planned to meet the requirements of those in diplomatic, military or other governmental positions in which a knowledge of this language is essential.

So large was the original enrollment in San Francisco and Oakland that four sections had to be organized. All are under the instruction of Bong Youn Choy, a Korean high school teacher, now a member of both the University Extension and the University's Department of Oriental Languages. Immediately after Pearl Harbor, Choy began work with the Los Angeles FBI and now is conducting classes to meet the intensive war training program of this country.

Sliger Mine Where 200 Men Worked, Closed

The Sliger Mine, near Greenwood, has been closed down for the duration. It is almost strictly a gold proposition, but they have had about 40 men working on flux, but even that output has been not enough to keep the mine open. Before the war the Sliger employed 200 men. Now, with the mine closed, there will not be even a careaker. Some of the forty mine workers have secured work at Nevada City and other places.
